Dear Parent/Carer

Natural History Museum, South Kensington, London - Hazel & Maple Class

To support our topic of 'The Exploding Earth!', Hazel and Maple classes are being invited to attend a school trip to the Natural History Museum in South Kensington, London.

The Natural History Museum is a world-class visitor attraction and leading science research centre. In 1856, Sir Richard Owen - a brilliant natural scientist who came up with the name for dinosaurs - envisioned a 'cathedral to nature'. In the mid-nineteenth century, museums were expensive places visited only by the wealthy few, but Owen insisted the Natural History Museum should be free and be accessible to all. Owen's foresight has allowed the Museum to display very large creatures such as whales, elephants and dinosaurs, including the beloved Diplodocus cast that was on display at the Museum for 100 years.

As part of our visit to the museum, the children will be participating in a science workshop called 'Emergency!' in which they will explore the exciting world of volcanoes and earthquakes.

The trip is on Wednesday 11th September and will cost £15.00 - this includes the cost of the coach; entrance to the museum is free of charge however there is a small charge for the workshops. The coach will leave school at 8.00am and return by 4.00pm (subject to traffic). Please return the permission slip and payment by 5th September 2019. We rely on parental contributions to be able to run trips like these - please note that if insufficient funds are received the school will need to cancel the trip.

The children will need to be in school uniform and bring a packed lunch and snack with them. They do not need to bring any money with them as we will not be visiting the gift shop.

Please see the attached letter for more information and return the reply slips as soon as possible.

Yours sincerely
